

The Ashbory's strings are made of supple, high-mass silicone, providing incredible ease of play and accurate intonation.

Active electronics control the widest range of tonal qualities imaginable, from the warmth of an upright to a percussive brilliance unmatched by ordinary basses.

The Ashbory's radical design sounds and plays like nothing else in the world. Flexible, soft silicone strings on a precise fretless neck deliver sounds impossible with other basses while allowing more traditional tones as well. The Ashbory's small size and light weight make it easy to hold, even on top of another bass or guitar. And all for a price within the reach of Special lo-Z circuitry ensures unusual clarity and transparency—plugs straight into mixing board, no direct box needed!
